INDUSTRY ANALYSIS

The restaurant industry is a vibrant and highly competitive sector that caters to the growing demand for dining experiences and culinary exploration. Understanding the industry landscape and trends is crucial for the success of Golden Ambiance. The restaurant industry is a significant contributor to the global economy, with steady growth observed over the years. Consumer spending on dining out and food services continues to increase, driven by factors such as changing lifestyles, urbanization, and a desire for convenience and unique experiences.

The restaurant industry is diverse, with various segments catering to different customer preferences. These segments include fine dining establishments, casual dining restaurants, fast-casual chains, cafes, and ethnic cuisine outlets. Golden Ambiance aims to position itself as a unique concept that combines elements of a restaurant, café, and club, targeting young to middle-aged individuals seeking a versatile dining experience.

Global fast food & quick service restaurant market share, by cuisine, 2019 (%)

The UK foodservice market size was $69.6 billion in 2021. The market forecasts to expand at a CAGR of more than 14% during 2021-2026. Takeaways and deliveries played a crucial role in mitigating losses among foodservice businesses, especially in the QSR and FSR channels, due to the convenience offered. Value growth in the sector will be driven by an increase in transaction count.

Consumers avoided eating out in 2021, especially due to the surge in the Omicron variant. Most of them opted to continue cooking meals at home, which shows that majority of consumers continued to cook meals at home from scratch, while some did this more frequently, and others started doing so. The decline in consumer purchasing power also led to fewer restaurant visits. In addition, rising price inflation contributed significantly to less frequent dining out. These factors, combined with lockdown restrictions, led a significant share of consumers to stop dining out. Facilities such as specialist dessert restaurants, ice cream parlors, and accommodation were hit the hardest.

The key channels in the UK foodservice market are accommodation, leisure, mobile operator, pub, club & bar, retail, travel, coffee & tea shop, QSR, FSR, ice-cream parlor and workplace. Pub, club & bar experienced that highest growth in the foodservice market. However, QSR experienced the second highest growth among all the other channels in the same year. FSR and accommodation were also strong in terms of 2021 growth. This indicates the growing willingness of consumers to participate in a wide range of public activities and services again as well as dining out. Although we can see consumers concerns about the risk of COVID-19 infection in their free time has decreased significantly, there is still relatively sluggish growth witnessed for mobile operators and ice-cream parlor. All channels recorded a decline in their number of transactions during 2016–21, as economic uncertainties and a surge in new COVID-19 cases hampered consumer confidence to spend on goods and services. The travel channel recorded the steepest decline in terms of transaction count.

- Pub, Club & Bar: Pub, club & bar was the largest channel in the profit sector. In 2021, the top five leading chain operators generated majority of the channel's total revenue. Ei Group plc, the largest chain operator, accounted for a significant percentage of the overall channel's sales.
- Quick Service Restaurant: QSR was the second-largest channel in the UK foodservice profit sector in 2021. McDonald's Corporation led the channel in 2021. Recent years have been favorable for Western-style fast-food chains, owing to their growing popularity among consumers. Other key operators in 2021 were Domino's Pizza Inc., Greggs Plc, Yum! Brands, Inc., and Nando's.

- Full-Service Restaurant: FSR was the third-largest channel in the UK foodservice profit sector. In 2021, the FSR channel was dominated by chain operators. Hony Capital, Yum! Brands Inc., Duke Street Capital, Sentinel Capital Partners & TriArtisan Capital Partners, and Bridgepoint were the leading players in the channel.

The restaurant industry is highly competitive, with numerous players vying for market share. Competition comes from both large chains and independent restaurants offering similar or alternative dining experiences. To stand out, Golden Ambiance will differentiate itself through its ambiance, freshly made food, exceptional customer service, and the afterhours club concept.

Consumer preferences in the restaurant industry are constantly evolving. Key trends include a focus on health-conscious and sustainable options, increased demand for vegetarian/vegan choices, the popularity of local and seasonal ingredients, and a growing interest in experiential dining. Golden Ambiance will address these trends by offering a menu with fresh ingredients, vegetarian/vegan options, and a commitment to sourcing locally and responsibly.

Technology plays a significant role in the restaurant industry, impacting areas such as online ordering, delivery services, reservation systems, and digital marketing. Golden Ambiance will leverage technology to enhance the customer experience, streamline operations, and reach a wider audience through online presence and targeted marketing campaigns.

The restaurant industry is subject to various regulations related to food safety, health standards, licensing, labor laws, and alcohol service. Compliance with these regulations is essential to ensure the smooth and legal operation of Golden Ambiance. Maintaining high standards of food safety and adhering to legal requirements will be a priority.

The COVID-19 pandemic had a significant impact on the restaurant industry, with temporary closures, restrictions on indoor dining, and a shift towards delivery and takeout services. As the industry recovers, it is important to consider evolving consumer preferences, changing regulations, and health and safety protocols to adapt to the post-pandemic landscape.

Embracing technology can enhance efficiency, improve customer convenience, and fuel industry growth.
- Post-Pandemic Recovery: The COVID-19 pandemic had a significant impact on the restaurant industry globally. Temporary closures, restrictions on dining-in, and shifts to delivery and takeout services caused challenges for many establishments. However, as vaccination rates increase and restrictions ease, the industry is expected to rebound and experience a period of recovery and growth.
